

2013 Psychic of the Year (TAS) - Jenny Stanley

Jenny was aware of her psychic abilities as a young girl and always knew she would be of service in some form. As she grew she sought out clairvoyants and read as many mystical books as she could find. With a strong pull in this direction she studied psychic development and eventually became a Reiki channel, Flower Essence practitioner, a psychic tarot reader and teacher.

Passionate about her psychic career, Jenny delights in helping her clients find their sense of personal power. In her readings, Jenny combines psychic tarot, the runes and Australian Bush Flower Essences. She also assesses the north node to give her clients specific tools for empowerment. Over the years, Jenny has read at various psychic expos and alternative bookshops. Today she practices at home in Tasmania and in NSW. Her clients always know where she is in through her website.

Jenny feels we are truly blessed when we find our niche in life. When she sees the changes that she is able to inspire in people, it affirms to her that she is on the right track. She finds her psychic work very rewarding and will continue as long as she has the support from spirit.
